

“The Chellington Centre is a place of expedition, contemplation, inspiration and invigoration, particularly but not exclusively for young people, providing many opportunities to build self-confidence and to reflect and celebrate life in a beautiful, rural setting.”

The purpose of this Bursary Fund is to make The Chellington Centre as accessible as possible to as wide a range of groups as possible.

Thank you for your application

Our primary target group is young people in need by reason of ill health, disability, financial hardship or other disadvantage.

We particularly welcome applications from organisations and groups working with young people in areas of deprivation where funding is not easily available for residential activity.

Typically, this might be:

- Schools/youth groups working across areas of deprivation.
- Charity groups where, by the nature of the need, would only use the centre for a small number of people.
- Organisations working with young people with special educational needs.
- Organisations working with young people with physical disabilities.
- Groups working with young people in our local community.

We also welcome applications from:

- Religious youth groups of all denominations

Bursaries are usually made up to a maximum of 40% of the cost of accommodation at the centre.

The decisions on Bursary Funding are taken by the Trustees of The Chellington Centre.

Applications are received throughout the year and dealt with within 7 working days.

If a group is successful in being awarded a Chellington Bursary we ask if after the delivery of the programme the leader could complete a short questionnaire so that we can monitor the impact of the scheme and offer feedback to our funders. Where the appropriate permissions are in place a photo of the group that could be shared would be greatly appreciated.

We would like to thank our donors and fundraisers for providing the money to finance this bursary fund.
